LIFE TACKLE

Teaming up for A Conscious Kick for the Legacy of Environment

Objectives and strategy

TACKLE aims at improving the environmental management of football matches and the overall level of awareness and attention toward environmental issues in the football sector.

Football's most relevant stakeholders – national football associations, football clubs, stadium managers and supporters – are included in TACKLE activities for a truly encompassing approach.

Contacts with EURO 2020 organisers and other national football associations will be maintained in order to share with them the TACKLE results and help them better manage waste during the European Championship.

Expected results

Best practices on environmental management will be collected and tested in different stadiums across Europe and information exchanged among national football associations to guide their implementation.

A set of strategies and tools will be developed to increase the competence and awareness of the involved partners and of other national football associations in Europe.
